The students worked hard during the summer for the community of Beaubassin-est

The Beaubassin-est Council and staff wish to thank and congratulate the five students who worked very hard during the summer of 2020, for the well-being of our community. Although we were unable to host summer camps this year, we have decided to hire the students anyway, with funding received from the student project programs. We offered them various tasks for the community, and they rose to the challenge with flying colors!

In addition to helping with various administrative tasks, Janie Léger and Danie Halloran worked with the communications department to prepare various publications, as well as work on website and social media updates. Renée Cormier traveled throughout the community with her camera to create a photo and video bank on Beaubassin-est, while cleaning up garbage in various places.

Alexandre Walton and André Drisdelle, for their part, carried out various repair and maintenance work on the infrastructures of Beaubassin-est, notably at the municipal building, in the playgrounds and in the Grand-Barachois trail. They have also collaborated on various projects with our community organizations, including renovations to the Grand-Barachois Hall and cleaning at the Barachois Historic Church.

A big thank you to these extremely dynamic young people and good luck with the return to university!
